Annette Klososky

Creative, passionate and engaging, Annette White-Klososky is a highly sought-after performance consultant/corporate trainer, personal success coach, and speaker.

Annette empowers clients to live all aspects of their lives with intention and passion. She teams with her clients to both define their business and personal vision and mission and to craft a plan that will ensure that action follows intention. She also works to help clients in creating healthy workplaces; focusing in the areas of vision, efficiency, communication, group dynamics and leadership development.

Her expertise in all facets of marketing, sales, and public relations places her in a top tier category of consultants for successful cultural impacts on individuals, teams and organizations. Annette has experience as an executive with a Fortune 1000 company where she served as Director of Public Relations for a 250-person international architectural / engineering firm. In her role with this organization she learned first-hand the difficulties of managing a staff and budget in a fast-paced industry.

Annette earned her Bachelor of Arts from the University of Oklahoma. In addition, she holds certifications and qualifications in all of the following specialties:

- Professional Facilitator
- Myers-Briggs Type Indicator®, MBTI® (personality assessment)
- FIRO-B™ (motivations assessment)
- AchieveGlobal (skills-based curriculum)
- Selling To Type (sales training based off of the Myers-Briggs Type Indicator®)
- DiSC™ (behaviorial style assessment)
- SPIN Selling™
- Leadership Development Programs for Communities & States (framework produced by TAMCO, Inc.)
